STEADY FALL IS REPORTED Reconstruction Machinery Swings Into Action Over Six States Swept by Wind Storm

DEATH LIST NOW 851

In Southern Illinois First Houses are Going up to Replace Those Splintered last Week

(By United Press)

Griffin, Ind., March 23—Flood waters which cut off desolate Griffin from the rest of the world, except by railroad, today, and which threatened to creep in over the ruined town itself, if a further rise occurred, were believed to have reached their crest at noon.

Mt. Carmel, Ill., reported a stage of 20.5 feet this morning, four and one half feet above flood stage. This was believed to be the crest there as Terre Haute continued to report a steady fall since Saturday.

St. Louis, Mo., March 23—Reconstruction machinery swung into action over the six states swept by wind storm today and the smash of the hammer could be heard from the debris filled towns.

The death list for the entire territory, according to today's figures, is 851, while more than 3,000 are in hospitals.

In southern Illinois the first houses were going up to replace those whipped into splinters last week.

Today hundreds of workmen were on duty in Marshysboro and West Frankfort, starting construction of new shipments of lumber, tools, and other reconstruction necessities poured into the territory, beginning to arrive before dawn.

HEARTY RESPONSE FROM THE COUNTY

Fund for Relief of Tornado Sufferers Mounts to Nearly $1,000 After Red Cross Appeal

TOTAL REPORTED IS $738

Ripley Township Residents Contribute $300 and St. Paul's M. E.
Church Sends $120

The Rush county fund for the relief of tornado sufferers was close to $1,000 today, following the appeal made Saturday by the Rush county chapter of the American Red Cross.

The total had mounted to $738 this afternoon and reports of other contributions that were to be ma-indicated that the total gift from Rush county, to help those suffering losses in the cyclone of last Wednesday, would go to at least $1,000 if not higher.

The residents of Ripley township were the largest contributors, Senator R. H. Hill of Carthage reporting this morning that the sum of $300 would be started on its way to the relief committee this evening.

The Rush county chapter of the American Red Cross started the fund Saturday with an appropriation of $200 and $120.00 was raised by the congregation of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church Sunday.
This was sent today as a church gift and not through the Rush county Red Cross.

The Raleigh Christian church Sunday raised $15 and reports are expected from other churches in the county.

The Ripley township fund was started with an appropriation of $25.00 from the Red Cross funds and Senator Hill went to the Auditorium theatre where he raised the sum of $199.43. Over Sunday it was increased to $283, and the promoters expected to make it even $300 before the check was sent.

All contributions listed in the Daily Republican, with the exception of the Ripley township and the St. Paul's M. E. church, were received by the Daily Republican or Miss Nora Sleeth, treasurer of the local chapter of the Red Cross, and will be sent in the name of the Red Cross.

SWINE SANITATION TO BE STRESSED IN SCHOOLS

Three Day Tour of County in Charge
Veterinarian, Opens Tuesday

FARTHING FIXED SCHEDULE

A swine sanitation demonstration arranged by a county swine committee and under the direction of Dr. G. N. Wickwire, federal veterinarian, will begin Tuesday morning and continue for three days. The schedule of meetings, which will cover most of the county, was prepared by B. D. Farthing, county superintendent of schools.

Supt. Farthing has asked each school to provide two or three un-thrifty pigs weighing between 30 and 60 pounds, and by post mortem examination Dr. Wickwire will be able to show the high school boys the life cycle of the different internal parasites which lessen the profits in pork production.

The meetings will be similar to those held in the county last August by Dr. Wickwire, who won the admiration of Rush county farmers.
He is a man of 62 years and has been in with the federal government work 25 years. All of his suggestions and recommendations are of a practical and conservative nature.
Dr. Wickwire is in charge of hog disease control work in Indiana.

REMODELING TO BE TOPIC

Elks to Consider Building New Front, at Meeting

The question of remodeling the front of the Elks lodge home, by adding a large veranda and building a new entrance to the building, will be taken up at the regular meeting of the lodge Wednesday evening,
and a large attendance of the members is urged.

The question of improving the front of the building, since the addition of the dance room and la-quarters a few years ago, has been pressing for settlement for some time, and it is expected that some definite decision will be reached at Wednesday night's meeting.

The question of interior decoration will also be taken up. Plans and specifications for the improvement are on display at the lodge building.

R. J. Duke Stops Off Few Hours Today and Will Return in Few Days to Start Campaign

LIVE CLUB IN RUSHVILLE

R. J. Duke, who is associated with the state Young Men's Christian association, stopped off in Rushville this morning in the interest of the Hi-Y club work in the local schools, and will return within a week or two to interest the Rushville boys in Camp Bedford, to be held this summer near Bedford, Ind.

The Rushville school has an active Hi-Y club and is one of the 90 clubs in the state, having a membership of 2,600 high school boys.
The principals of the club are based on the four "C's"—clean speech, clean sports, clean scholarship and clean living. The Hi-Y is the Y.
M. C. A. extended into the high school.

The camp was held last year at a place near Bedford, and thousands of young people took advantage of the opportunity it afforded. It is expected that the camp this year will be even more largely attended, and for that reason, Mr. Duke will be here again within a week or ten

House on Farm Owned by Mrs. Mau-
Lacey and Family

LITTLE OF CONTENTS SAVED

A dwelling house on the farm owned by Mrs. Mauzy Bebout, located two miles west of Rushville on the Indianapolis road, was destroyed by fire Sunday morning at eleven o'clock and practically all of the household goods belonging to Grant Lacey, the occupant, were destroyed.

The fire is believed to have started from sparks, or a defective flue, and the roof was ablaze all over when it was discovered.

Mrs. Lacey and daughter were home at the time and spread the alarm. On account of the house being back from the main road, the lane leading back was muddy and practically impassable for machines.
Pumper truck 2 from the local fire station answered the call, but they could not reach the house on account of the soft condition of the lane, and the dwelling was too far gone to be saved.

The house was insured by Mrs.
Bebout for $400 and was valued at $800. Mr. Lacey suffered heavily, as only a small amount of the furnishings were removed, and his insurance was for only $200.

That portion of the farm was formerly owned by the late Judge Cullen, with the dwelling facing the Indianapolis road.

NURSE SUCCEUMS SUDDENLY

Mrs. Angie McCulloch, Age 70, Dies at Son's Home, This Morning

Mrs. Angie McCulloch, age 70 years, died suddenly this morning at 5:30 o'clock at the home of her son, John McCulloch in Henderson, death being caused from heart trouble. Dr.
J. M. Lee, coroner was called and investigated the death.

Mrs. McCulloch was a nurse, and had been acting in that capacity at Glenwood, and was preparing to go to Milroy this week. She is survived by the son here and two daughters in Tennessee, her former home. The body will be shipped to Marysville, Tenn., for services and burial Tuesday afternoon. It is the second death in the family recently, as Robert McCulloch, grandson, died re-
Gings.

RUSH COUNTY REPRESENTED

Miss Naomi Nash of Gings Sits in Junior General Assembly

The Indiana Junior Assembly, composed of high school students from all over Indiana, convened this morning in the state house at Indianapolis, where they will be in session for a week, making "laws" and following the general procedure of the state legislators.

Rush county is represented by Miss Naomi Nash, a Junior in the Gings high school who was elected at the county convention held here a few weeks ago. Every county is represented by either senators or representatives, and the high school pupils will introduce "bills" and follow out a legislative program that was to be worked out today by the student committees.

DISTRICT MEETING WILL BE HELD HERE

Gather in Rushville For Session on April First

STATE OFFICERS ARE COMING

Series of Prizes to be Offered for Degree Work and Attendance —
Miles S. Cox Chairman

A series of twelve district meetings of the Great Council of Indiana, Improved Order of Red Men, will begin Tuesday, and Rushville has been selected for one of the district sessions, to be held here Wednesday, April 1.

William A. Morris, great sachem, and other state officers, will be present for the district meeting and will take an active part in the afternoon and evening program.

Miles S. Cox is the chairman in charge of the local meeting and tribes from the following counties have been assigned to the Rushville district: Rush, Shelby, Hancock, Henry, Wayne, Fayette, and Union.

The chair of the district will kindle the council fire of the tribe at three o'clock the afternoon of the day the meeting is held, and following the opening ceremony, the state officers will take charge and call the roll of the tribes in the district.
Matters pertaining to the advancement of the order will be discussed, following which the great council degree will be conferred on all past sachems present at a special session of the Great Council of Indiana by the great chiefs. All past sachems who have not had this degree are asked to be present.

Promptly at 7:30 in the evening, the unwritten work will be exemplified by Great Senior Sagamore William H. LaRue or his duly authorized representative, and at 8:30 the adoption degree will be conferred by the Gwynneville degree team.

The Gwynneville team won the state prize last year and is regarded as the best in Indiana. Those arranging for the local district session believe themselves very fortunate in being able to get the services of this staff.

A prize of $50 will be awarded to the degree team giving the best adoption degree at the twelve district meetings and a prize of $10 in gold will be given the individual member of the competitive teams who renders his part best. The state officers will be the judges. A flag and staff suitable for the program will be given to the tribe having the largest per cent of its members present at the afternoon meetings, in any of the twelve district meetings, and a flag of the same one will be presented to the largest class adopted from any one tribe at the district meetings.
Also a flag will be given for the visiting tribe having the largest attendance at any of the meetings.

totaling $21.50 is being made by Ralph Gurley, who is held in jail on a warrant filed in Justice Stech's court, and he has not been arranged, pending the outcome of making a

county and returned to jail here to face the charges.

College Man Speaks Here

The Rev. Eddie Thomas, who is holding evangelistic services at St.
Paul's Methodist Episcopal church, preached to two large audiences Sunday. No services will be held tonight, but they will be resumed Tuesday night.

his Easter sermon series at the First Presbyterian church Sunday morning, his subject being "The Comfort of the Resurrection."

The Rev. R. W. Sage preached another of the series on "Why I Believe" at the First Baptist church, and the Rev. E. G. McKibben used

ing, "The Great Things of God."

Ed Kerschner, dean of religion at Butler college, delivered two sermons at the Main Street Christian church Sunday, his theme in the morning being the unread lessons of life, in which he emphasized the importance of small things.

St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal

Evangelist Thomas took for his text, "The Holy Ghost," at the morning services and read from Acts, first and second chapters.

"If God prepared a place for the good, he likewise prepared a place for the bad," the Rev. Mr. Thomas said.

The evangelist spoke of three dispensations, first of God, second of Jesus and third of the Holy Ghost and said we are living in the dispensation of the Holy Ghost when Jesus is not here in earthly form but as a spirit.

"Jesus as a man could be in one place, only, at a time; as a spirit he is everywhere," the speaker stated. "I have a right to pin my faith on God. He will fulfill his promises."

He spoke of Christ's last day, how the disciples slept in the Garden and said the churches are asleep now. "Believe and receive the spirit. There is a difference between believing and receiving. 'Lo I am with you always even unto the end of

His closing words were "God never took a man out of the world without giving him an opportunity to repent."

His text at the evening service was from Matthew 27:4, "What is that to us, see thou to that," and

his theme was "Christian citizen-ship." In part he said:

"I take my text out of the mouth of a bunch of rich Pharisees, spoken to a man who had served their purpose. The downfall of Judas came as much through his avariciousness as anything else. He was the appointed treasurer, and I believe he was efficient, perhaps a good financier. There are many men, the best of financiers, who are surely on their way to hell as though they were on a limited train with no stopover allowed. Judas in his quest for money, like many men today, never stopped to inquire the cost or consider the disadvantage to others.

"We know his sin, how he bargained with a lot of rascals for your Christ and mine. Then being ashamed of his actions, but not man enough to apologize to the man he had wronged, he tried to make reparation, by giving back the blood money. There are some things money won't buy. Love, Heaven, forgiveness cannot be bought. If Judas had asked Jesus for forgiveness, our Christ's great heart would have gone out and there would have been a man, a great apostle instead of a suicide, for Jesus would have forgiven him.

"You can't reform the world entirely by making a better environment, you must reform the world individually before any great reformation is going to come about collectively. No man lives unto himself. He cannot though he tries.

"The prisons today are not reforming men, they are simply restraining them. We place beginners in crime with hardened criminals. It is true we are trying to separate them. Nothing makes a man truly a humanitarian but the love of Jesus Christ."

First United Presbyterian

The text for the sermon by the pastor at the First United Presbyterian church on Sabbath morning was Hosea 8:12 "I wrote unto them the great things of my law; but they are counted as a strange thing" He said in part:
This text is a protest by the Almighty at the way the people of Israel treated his word. They were law." The Bible of Hosea's time priest to the rank and file of the people and His messages by the prophets were so different from their practices that they seemed to them to be strange. In the American Standard version it is translated "Then ten thousand things of my law" The Bible of Hosea's time consisted of the pentateuch, the historical books, the poetical books and the major prophets. They lacked the twelve minor prophets and all the New Testament of having what we have. Let them without excuse. Instead of repenting and seeking forgiveness they felt that God's word was irrational, impractical and visionary.

They treated it as men of the world treat it today. They wholly reject it; or they accept it only in part, as history, literature or ethics; or they seek to undermine and destroy what condemns their life. The law of the Sabbath is annulled today. Men say, "It is the only day I have to entertain my friends, or be entertained, or to take an excursion, or to go for an outing." As a matter of fact it is the only day you don't have for those purposes. It is the Lord's day and is to be used as He directs. The six days are ours to be used as we please, only in a lawful way. The seven is to be used as He pleases. This is only one illustration of the same tendency to annul the divine command as existed in Hosea's day.

Leaving the negative phase, let us note how we ought to treat the scripture. We should receive it as God's word addressed to us personally. No matter how many hear, it is not for men in the mass, but for the individual. And no matter who or what the messenger is, when we hear the truth, the responsibility becomes ours as to acceptance or rejection. We should search it as for hid treasure. Go over it. Go into it. Go through it. It will reward your search. We should meditate on it.

First Presbyterian

"The comfort of the resurrection can be known only as we come to know the transforming power of Jesus Christ in our own life," said the Rev. Gibson Wilson in a sermon on "The Comfort of the Resurrection" at the First Presbyterian church Sunday. His text was Phil. 3:10, "That I may know him and the power of the resurrection."

He pointed out that all of the progress of the centuries had been marked by victories, none of which equaled the victory of Easter morn. "From that day men and women," he added, "have rejoiced with new courage to know that believers are triumphant on the eternal shores."

"In his great power and victory the ages continue to find their comfort. Men and women stunned by sorrow and disappointment, rise with a courage that has astounded the world, and guided by the Holy Spirit of God, they have proclaimed with new courage their faith in the life that is eternal. Millions, imbued and inspired by that faith have joined the Church Triumphant. Other millions inspired by his resurrection are hastening to every nook and corner of the world with this message of life beyond the grave. Of that untold multitude who are yet to be born anew through the knowledge of his resurrection, no man can tell the number. All these shall proclaim him Lord of Lords, in the ages untold, world without end.

"The great outstanding theme of the preachers in this early church was, The Resurrection; just as the great theme of the Reformation was, Justification by Faith. Out of these great themes has come the preaching that has transformed the world and continues to fashion its course through the centuries. Would not the church profit tremendously today if she would get away from this discussion about forms and ceremonies and badges of recognition and preach the great fundamental truths of salvation through the risen Christ. The people are hungering for bread, why feed them anything else?"

"That is the spiritual interpretation of the resurrection," Paul says,

"That I may know him and the power of his resurrection." Paul had the power of the resurrection in his own life before he died. We must be risen men while we live if we are to be risen men after death. We must have the Christ life in us now if we would have it beyond the tomb.

"The lighted taper which you need to guide you through the tomb is the light of the life of Jesus living in you. If that light isn't in you now it will be a dark journey."

"We need to be more concerned about the spiritual truth of Christianity being in our life on this side the tomb rather than on the other side. If we are living in sin and in the neglect of God's great truths, we may be certain that the life we now have is darkness."

"Rear your children in the spiritual meaning of the resurrection. Let its teaching fashion their life. Then you need have no fear when the door opens and they enter the City, with the life eternal dwelling in them."

"Our risen Lord has won the victory over the grave. He has taken away the sting of death. Sharing his life power, we share his victory."

Flood Waters, Threatening Storm District, Reach Crest

was considering the use of part of the appropriated $25,000 balance in his emergency contingent fund for reconstructing the school building at Griffin, the hamlet which was swept away by the tornado.

Contributions to the relief fund for tornado sufferers in southwestern Indiana, continued to pour into the Red Cross headquarters here today.

Total contributions received shortly before noon amounted to more than $20,000.

Griffin Is Isolated

Evansville, Ind., March 23—The village of Griffin, swept by tornado and fire last Wednesday with the loss of at least 58 lives, was almost completely isolated from the outside world today by flood waters of the Wabash river and smaller streams.

Entrance to the town was cut off from three directions and a highway leading to the village from the north direction is covered with water but not yet impassable.

Supplies for the few refugees of the town's original population of 400 still remaining on the spot, were being collected at Barrett Station, two miles east of Griffin.

From there they are taken to the isolated village on a gasoline hand car on the Illinois Central railroad.

All persons except relief workers were forbidden by military authorities to enter the town.

Governor Jackson, who made a personal inspection of the entire district yesterday, drove out of Griffin over a highway that was covered with one foot of water.

The list of known dead in southwestern Indiana stood at 109 today and a systematic search of the ruins of Griffin was still in progress in the belief that additional bodies will be found there.

Conditions were rapidly improving in the other towns in the "pocket" of southern Indiana which were struck by the tornado.

Princeton, Owensville and Poseyville have buried most of their dead.

Abundant supplies of medicines and a corps of physicians are on hand to cope with any outbreak of disease that might threaten further loss of life.

Rapid progress was being made in the work of clearing away the wreckage and many families have already returned to their homes which were damaged by the twister.

National guardsmen remained on the scene keeping traffic moving and guarding the restricted areas. Scores of Red Cross workers remained at the task of ministering to the immediate wants of the victims.

Throughout his inspection of the tornado zone yesterday, Governor Jackson was appalled by the extent of the disaster.

"The destruction is indescribable beyond words," he said after he had viewed the ruins of Griffin. "The state of Indiana will do its full part in taking care of its unfortunate."

All day Sunday an endless stream of automobiles bearing sightseers and curious from every part of Indiana and even from adjoining states passed through Princeton.

The procession was kept moving at a rapid pace by the guardsmen and no cars were permitted to stop unless on official business.

Some estimates placed the number of persons who tried to get a view of the damage at Princeton as high as 75,000.

No one was permitted to enter Griffin.

Bible Thought
—FOR TODAY—
Bible thoughts memorized will prove a precious heritage in after years.

Riches Have Wings:—Labour not to be rich; cease from thine own wisdom. For riches certainly make themselves wings; they fly away. Proverbs 23:4-5.

Prayer:—We thank Thee, O God, that we are fellow-workers with Thee in labor that builds not for time only but for Eternity.

Clean-up Time

The time for the annual clean-up has come around again. It has become the custom for city officials to proclaim a "clean-up week" and thus set an example for all of the people to follow.

This custom has its good points because it serves to focus attention on the necessity of individual pride in the appearance of residences and premises before the whole community can really accomplish anything on a wholesale scale.

But is a "clean-up week" enough? Would not a real campaign be more fruitful in desired results?

Why not make it a campaign this year and keep it up as long as may be necessary to do a real job? That's the first essential of a successful community effort in such work.

The second essential is the public commitment of the thing cleaned up to the new order of things. A "lick and a promise" all in a week will not keep Rushville or any other community clean and wholesome-looking the year around.

It is impossible for public officials to co-ordinate their efforts with those of every household within a six-day period. But public co-operation that can be enlisted in a real campaign is invaluable to them, and to the community, in the visible and lasting results obtained and in the sense of personal responsibility for continuous effort in this direction.

The city government has a responsibility along with individuals, in

Rheumatism

"Yes! it's all gone."

DO NOT close your eyes and think that health, free motion and strength are gone from you forever! It is not so. You can get rid of your rheumatism by building up your blood power. It is a fact that rheumatism means "blood poverty." It is a fact with the increase of red cells in your blood, impurities are destroyed. It is a fact that S.S.S. will help Nature build these red-blood-cells! S.S.S. is one of the most powerful blood cleansers in existence. Its results in thousands of rheumatic cases have been nothing short of amazing! The medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable. This is very important to remember! What can be more inspiring, more wonderful than to see the shackles of pain released from your struggling body, swellings, lingering pains, stiffness of joints and muscles all disappear; your stomach made strong; your face pink with the old sweetheart glow; your blood enriched and your cheeks more plump as they used to be. You can do it! Take S.S.S., the great destroyer of rheumatic impurities.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.
S.S.S. Makes You Feel Like Yourself Again seeing that unsightly places are cleaned up. A first class example can be set by starting on the city water and light plant premises, which is an eyesore to residents of that neighborhood. Neither is the condition around the plant a very good recommendation for Rushville to strangers who get a glimpse of it while passing through.

Concealed Weapons

A shocking tragedy occurred in Rushville a few days ago because a man was carrying a revolver.

As long as men who are not peace officers sworn to enforce the law, are permitted to carry concealed weapons, such tragedies are certain to take place.

There is a law which provides that no one shall carry concealed weapons.

How long will public sentiment allow this law to be willfully disobeyed?

It can be enforced, just as any other law is enforced, if the people so will it.

When are they going to demand that this practice be stopped?

Will they wait until more lives are taken, or will they put their stamp of disapproval on it at once?

Weeding Out Inefficiency

Jardine, the new secretary of agriculture, is acting like a real he-man, to use a trite but expressive phrase. It is hinted that he has already discovered that his primary problem in the department is to really reorganize it into an effective going concern. It is regrettable but true that the department of agriculture, for all of the fine work which it has done, is honey-combed with imitation, useless and extravagant bureaus and subdivisions which are of no particular value. Mixing brains with the soil is now a recognized feature of farming life, but in various bureaus of the department, in the attempt to build up organizations, the proportion of brains to common farm soil has become as nine to one. The farmers of the country want facts, want advice, and are eager for instruction, but when it comes to the point where for the giving out of a five dollar fact a five thousand dollar bureau has to be organized, it is about time to call a halt. This may seem a wanton exaggeration, but it is not far from the facts. The sooner the deadwood and underbrush is cleared away, the sooner the Department of Agriculture will function as it really should, to the benefit of the farmers. That we understand is the goal toward which Jardine is moving.

Hunt's Washington Letter

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON — Assessment of an arbitrary $10,000,000 or so in income tax against Senator Couzens, to cover a theoretical undervaluation of the 1913 worth of his stock in the Ford Motor Company, may result in a situation where the government, instead of collecting a few additional millions, would have to refund to Couzens the taxes he did pay as a result of his profit on that transaction.

Perhaps Secretary Mellon would not object to that result. For it would, in that case, be a demonstration of his claim that high taxes defeat themselves and deprive the government of revenue instead of adding to treasury receipts.

No more interesting demonstration of the Mellon tax theory could possibly be staged in this country, nor one that would so thoroughly catch public attention and interest.

BRIEFLY the situation is this: When negotiations were under way by Ford to buy out the stock of the minority interests in the flaxer industry the minority stockholders agreed to sell at $12,500 per share, provided a ruling was procured in advance from the Treasury Department of a value for the stock as of 1913, satisfactory to the minority owners.

Under the revenue law the 1913 value would be taken as a basis for determining profit on the stock subject to the federal income tax. Such a ruling was obtained by Ford from the treasury. The 1913 value was fixed at $3500 per share. And as a result of this valuation the sale was consummated.

Ford paid $12,500 per share for the stock and Couzens and his minority associates paid Uncle Sam income tax on $3500 per share profit, this being the increase in value of the stock between 1913 and 1919 as figured by the government's own experts.

IN rebuttal to the department's claim that the figure of $3500 was more than the stock was worth in 1913, that its real value then was only about $2500 a share, and that a tax must be paid on $10,000 per share profit instead of $3500 per share, the following claim, legal sharks suggest, might be established.

Pre-determination by the government of a satisfactory value for the stock, as of 1913, was one of the material considerations entering into the sale.

It was a very definite, perhaps even a determining factor in the sale. Had the government then fixed the figure Secretary Mellon now suggests would have been proper, Couzens' net return would have been some $10,000,000 less. It seems quite likely the sale never would have been made at that figure.

IF the government is now able to establish and enforce a lower 1913 valuation as a basis for taxing the profits on the sale to Ford it is claimed the validity of the whole transaction could be set aside and Couzens reinstated in the ownership of his Ford stock should he so desire.

For the valuation previously fixed by the department constituted a very definite and valuable consideration and formed a basic part of the agreement on which the sale was concluded.

In event this contention was upheld in the courts the government instead of collecting additional taxes from Couzens would have to refund taxes heretofore collected on the sale.

And Henry Ford would have to make an accounting to Couzens on profits made during the last half dozen years.

Which would bring Ford into the light and insure litigation lasting years beyond the span of the present administration.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO TODAY

From Daily Republican

Wednesday, March 23, 1910

There are many signs of spring and they are all worked over time, but here's one that never fails. That first straw hat. It was seen today. Jesse Winship of West Ninth street had the nerve to appear on the streets with his last year's bonnet all arrayed for the promising weather.

Miss Vira Ruff and Harely C. Saunders were married this afternoon at two o'clock at the St. Paul's M. E. church parsonage by the Rev. J. W. Turner. Both young people reside here.

Dave Higgins of Clarksburg has purchased the general merchandise store at New Salem, owned for the past few months by Warren P. Elder.

Patrick Carroll of this city, who has been visiting at his home in Ireland for the past two months, arrived in New York City on March 17th, just in time to see the great St. Patrick's day parade of 40,000 men in line—one of the sights of the year in New York City.

While plowing in a field near his home on the Helm farm east of the city this afternoon, Sam Hendricks turned suddenly and broke his leg.

Mrs. Walter Hubbard is suffering with a slight illness at her home in West Second street.

While driving toward this city this morning, the horse driven by John Weir frightened at J. W. Tompkins' automobile and ran away, wrecking the buggy and injuring Mr. Weir.

The Misses Mae Debut, Nancy Hogsett, Martha Mogsett and Jesse Pugh will see Maude Adams in "What Every Woman Knows" at the English theatre in Indianapolis tonight.

Miss Fern Dillon attended the funeral of Mrs. Anna Summers here yesterday.

John and Charles Johnson of Carthage passed through here this morning enroute to Indianapolis to spend the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Vance went to Indianapolis this morning and will see Maude Adams in "What Every Woman Knows" at the English tonight.

John Monjar went to Indianapolis yesterday where he accepted a position as solicitor for the Woman's World.

Wilbur Stevens of Elkhart has been the guest of home folks here for the past few days.

Grant Greeley has returned to his home in Piqua, Ohio, after spending a few days here with relatives.

A TALK WITH A RUSHVILLE, MAN

Mr. Offatt Tells Something of Interest to Rushville Folks

There's nothing more convincing than the statement of someone you know and have confidence in. That's why this talk with Mr. Offatt of 321 W. Fourth street, should be mighty helpful here in Rushville.

S. G. Offatt, retired blacksmith, 321 W. Fourth St., Rushville says: "Knife-like stabs of pain made stooping work impossible. I couldn't get rid of the stiffness across my kidneys and my kidneys didn't act often enough. The secretions were scanty. Doan's Pills, however, from Pitman & Wilson's Drug store, regulated my kidneys and my back ached no longer. I still use Doan's occasionally to keep my kidneys well."

"Education pays. I once knew of a college graduate who was promoted from conductor to motorman because the company couldn't prove anything on him."

HE SUFFERED FOR FIVE YEARS AFTER

"Five years ago I was taken down with influenza which left me in a general run-down condition. I was constipated at all times, my stomach bloated, and headaches sometimes, lasted a whole week. I felt tired all the time, was losing weight and growing weaker. The physicians that treated me would give me first one kind of medicine, then change to something else, but my condition grew steadily worse. Finally, I decided to try chiropractic and on Aug. 31, 1923, I began taking adjustments. After a course of adjustments, my bowels are regular, I can enjoy my meals without any bad after-effects, my headaches are entirely gone and have more pep now than I have enjoyed for years. I feel like a new man."

FRANKFORT IS KING

A new champion was crowned king of Indiana basketball Saturday night—Frankfort. This team has been a frequent visitor at the big show in Indianapolis, and last year when they were the runners up, they said then that this year they would be on top. Congratulations, Frankfort, and since it wasn't Rushville, we don't know of any other team that deserves to win anymore than you do.

ON ALL-STATE TEAMS

Rushville players, although they participated in only one game of the state tourney, figured in the honorary teams in the Star this morning. Miller, backguard, won his berth on the second team; Lakin, center, won a place on the third team, and Newbold, forward, was given honorable mention.

NEXT YEAR, WHEN RUSHVILLE GOES TO THE STATE, WE ARE HOPING THAT WE DON'T HAVE TO MEET MARION. THAT TEAM HAS BEEN A JINX, AS BOTH TIMES AT THE STATE THEY SENT RUSHVILLE BACK, THE FIRST TIME BY ONE POINT, AND THEN BY TWO POINTS.

The thing to do is to book that Marion team for a regular scheduled game, and then we would know how to handle them at the state.

Kokomo was the real dark horse of the tourney. It will be recalled that Kokomo lost Beatty, floor guard after they had made a wonderful record for the season, only to have most of their games forfeited. If Kokomo had still retained Beatty, the final score no doubt would have been different.

Alices a Sick Bunch

The sickest bunch in the state, no doubt is from Vincennes. They had a fine team down there, but this press agent stuff in the News won't win all games. Vincennes no doubt felt overconfident in that Kokomo game, but Kokomo went in and outplayed them. There is always a chance for a team to get too much publicity—that is always the reason why the crowd is for the dark horse.

Another sick bunch is the crowd from Washington, a neighboring city of Vincennes. They also were just as confident of winning the state, as Shooting 'em was that Vincennes would win. The Hatchets have one of the best shooting teams in the state but they were not experienced enough with strong teams to fight their way through the tourney.

This Washington team retains all of their players next year, excepting the back guard, and they are stepping out in fast company in the state, which will help them put across a winner. Washington was among the first teams booked by Rushville next season, with two games with them.

BOOSTERS'S CLUB IS BEING URGED!

Hittin' 'em has received a letter from Ding Bat in which he is strong for a Booster's Club for Rushville and urges an organization of that kind at once, in order to keep alive the spirit all summer, and also to boost the new gym. He says in part:

"The club could boost the new gym and keep the spirit of the game up during the building of the gym. Organize a club like Shelbyville has, elect officers from the best and most enthusiastic fans in the city and then build up an organization." He mentions several prominent fans who would be interested in the movement, and he also urges a girl yell leader to help things along. In conclusion, he adds, "think it over fans, then talk it over and before you know it, we will have a club of three or four hundred. Boost for the gym. Boost for a club. Ding Bat."

AND NOW WE ARE NEARING THE END OF THIS COLUMN BUSINESS UNTIL THE FIRST DAY OF DECEMBER, WHEN THE SEASON WILL AGAIN BE IN FULL SWING.

In reviewing the past season, it has been a most successful one. The team has been one of the best in the history of the school. We are losing some of the finest basketball players ever turned out here. For instance, Newbold, Miller, McNamara, —all who graduate, and Lakin who probably will not be able to play next season. Then there are Osborn and Wainwright, also first string players, who graduate. This is sure a fine bunch of players, and should be sent on their way with the best of wishes from all fans.

And again in reviewing the season, we have had a fine time together. Much has been done in the way of encouraging a new gym which is greatly needed, and now that the season is over, this sentiment must not be dropped. The time for action is now, and it should be carried on, so that when the first game is played

HOWARD RICHARDSON DIES

Rushville Man Expires This Morning Following Long Illness

Howard Richardson, age 49 years, died this morning at five o'clock at his home, 128 South Pearl street, death being caused from a long illness with stomach trouble. He is survived by the widow and two children, Roy and Fred Richardson, and a grandchild. He also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Addie Diskey of Newcastle and Mrs. Albert Curry of this city, and a brother, Robert Richardson of Greensburg.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the late residence, and burial will be made in Greensburg, which was the former home of the deceased.

BROADCASTING BOOTH LIKE BIG BIRD CAGE

Indianapolis, Ind., March 23—High above the bleachers and the playing floor, nestling in the steel girders of the big Exposition building at the state fair grounds, where the final battle of the state high school basketball championship race of Indiana is being fought today is something which resembles a huge bird cage.

From here the thousands of basketball fans of Indiana who are unable to come to Indianapolis for the tournament get all the thrills and realism of the proud possessors of front row seats.

From this booth the Indianapolis Times is broadcasting every move of the ball in every game from the first clash at 9 o'clock this morning to the final championship struggle tonight.

Blythe Q. Hendricks of the Times staff, is doing the announcing. Hendricks has followed all the major sporting events in Indianapolis for a dozen games and is thoroughly familiar with the game of basketball.

A specially constructed microphone has been installed in the booth of the "bird cage." This microphone is connected with the broadcasting station of the Merchants' Heat and Light company, WEBM, 268 meters, about eight miles away.

Through the microphone listeners can hear Hendricks announce the plays and listen to the yells of the cheering section.

This is the first time that returns of a state tournament have ever been broadcasted from the floor.

next November, it will be in a fine new and large gymnasium. Keep alive this thought, and don't let it die down. Talk it all the time.

THREE FINAL CHEERS!

So we are now ready to close up. Just one thing more, let's give three rousing cheers to the Lions before we go. They have deserved it, and many more things. They fought hard for that new gym, and it was largely due to their playing that worked up the enthusiasm to that point.

Just like they do in moving pictures, when they come to an end, the scene just fades out, and so that is what this column is doing—a moving picture stunt of just fading away.

Dempsey Has Best of Clash

By HENRY L. FARRELL

New York, March 23—After sad experiences in the past, the New York Boxing Commission exhibits a great capacity for punishment in putting the spurs to Jack Dempsey. Under the conditions that existed in this case, the commission hardly had a chance to win the argument.

When the commission gave Dempsey 24 hours in which to accept or reject the challenge of Harry Wills, it jumped off without taking the well known look. It developed later that the commissioners had forgotten a clause in the rules that gives a champion fifteen days in which to answer a challenge.

The commission also was without an effective comeback. If Dempsey had ignored the ultimatum that was presented to him and had inquired of the commission what would be done about it, the commission would have been forced to admit that nothing would be done about it, because nothing could be done about it.

There was no way to punish Dempsey for the violation of the rule which requires that champions must defend their titles each six months while they retain their championships. The penalty for the violation of the rules is suspension. In the case of Mickey Walker and one or two others, the commission tried to remove the title, but it didn't take. There seems to be an unfortunate state of mind in the public that there is only one way in which a title can be taken away from a champion and that is by a vigorous tap on the chin.

It would be silly to attempt to vacate the heavyweight championship by an edict of the commission and it is quite certain that the commission would not invite ridicule upon itself by such an attempt. In the case of Dempsey, the commission cannot even suspend him, because he has not renewed his license since the Firpo fight, and the commission has no jurisdiction over him. The only punishment that could be meted out would be a threat that he could get a license when he wanted one.

SCENES IN PATH OF TORNADO

—What was once the main street of Frankfort, Ill., reduced to nothing but a pile of twisted debris and desolation, following the ruin and death that visited the town during the terrific tornado of March 18.

Ruins of the Longfellow grade school at Murphysboro, Ill., where approximately 70 children were crushed to death when a tornado of unprecedented fury swept through the town, snatched off the roof of the building and piled the dead and injured in heaps.

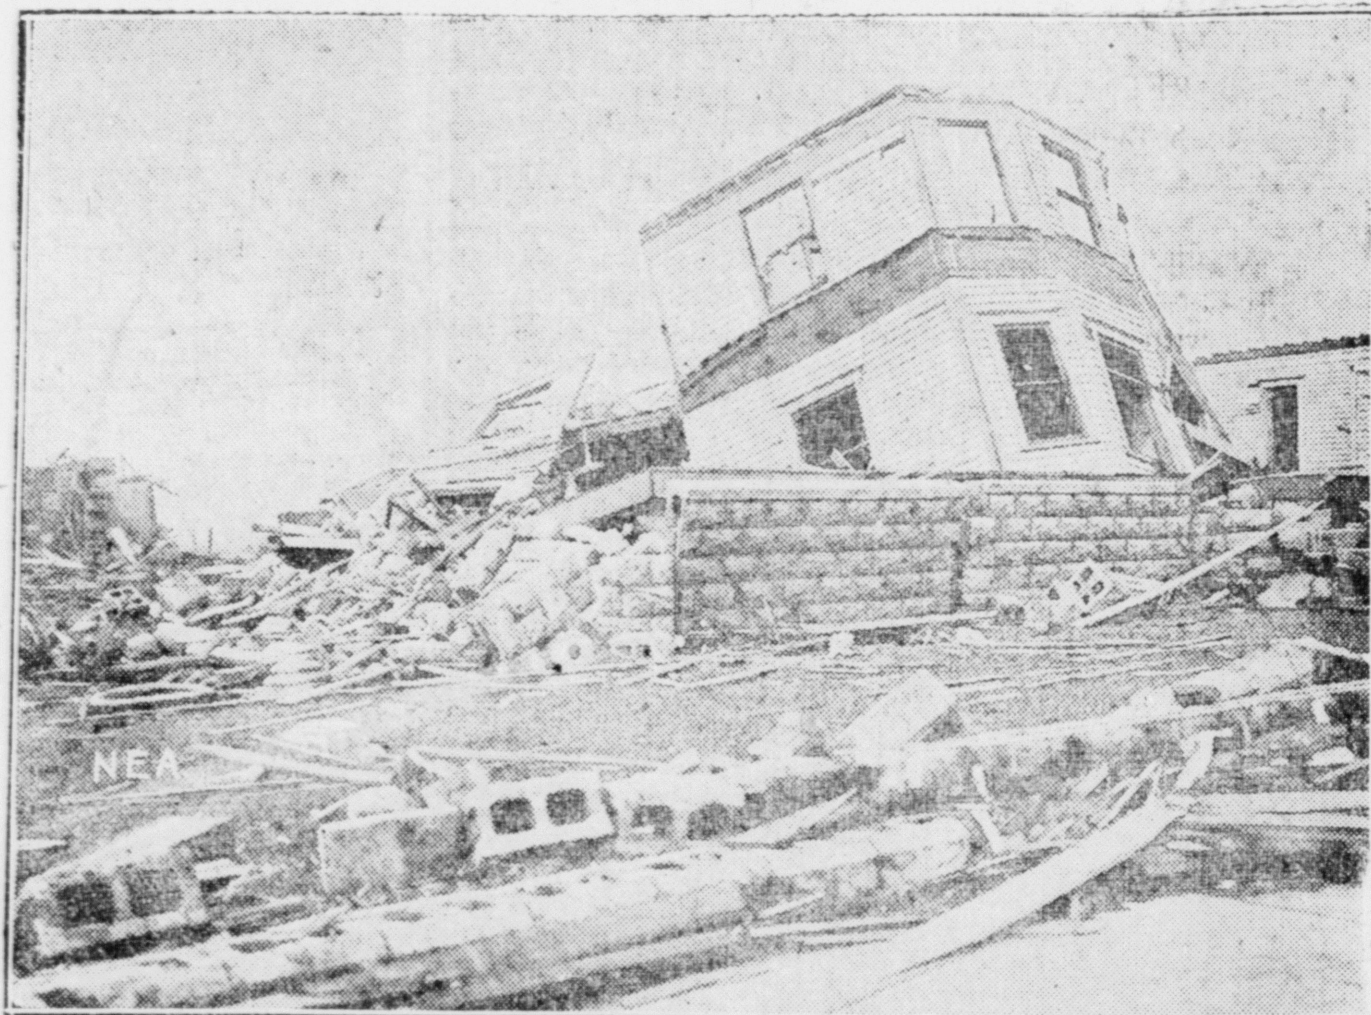

MRS. W. F. TURNER

Quincy, Ill.—"I have taken Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and have given it to my children. It is a wonderful tonic and blood medicine. Also I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription during middle life and it was a great benefit to me. I had been having nervous and dizzy spells and the 'Prescription' relieved and carried me through all right."—Mrs. W. F. Turner, 321 Ohio St.

Every dealer carries Dr. Pierce's medicines, in both fluid and tablet form. Send 10c to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., if you desire a trial package of tablets and write for free advice.

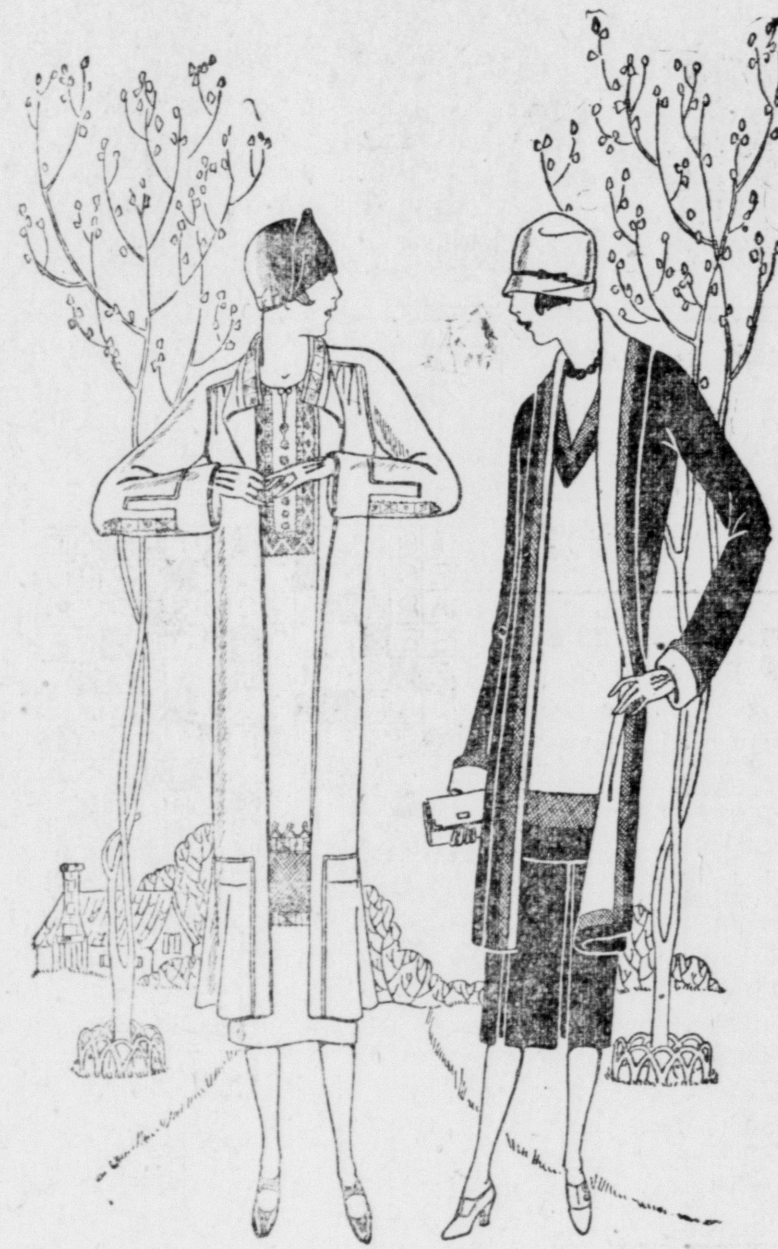

TRY A WANT AD

The efforts of a lifetime were smashed to bits by the tornado which crushed in houses like so many eggshells and left a trail of death and havoc in its wake. This picture, taken at Murphysboro, Ill., one of the towns hardest hit by the twister, gives some concept of the tornado's fury. Note the solid concrete walls in the foreground snatched from their foundations and hurled far and wide.

"North of 36" Princess

"North of 36," by Emerson Hough is a tale of the Texas cattle trail, picturing a country wild, almost lawless, at the period of the story, roughened and disheartened by the recent Civil War.

Lois Wilson, as Taisie Lockhart manager of her own vast ranch in Texas, finds herself penniless, with no means of disposing of her herds, her chief asset being the true spirit of the pioneers.

Word comes that way up "north of 36," a market beckons. With her 4,500 cows, 16 cow hands, 19 kinds of rifles and six shooters and 115 cow ponies, Taisie makes the start with all the thrills that the start of the wagon train in Emerson Hough's "The Covered Wagon" evolved.

The cast includes Jack Holt, Ernest Torrence, Lois Wilson and Noah Beery in featured roles. The picture opens a two days' run today at the Princess Theatre. It's a colorful page from the history of the United States, a second "Covered Wagon!"

Aviator King at Castle

That Al Wilson, the famous aviator stunt king, is becoming steadily a popular favorite on the screen has been demonstrated in no uncertain fashion by the enthusiastic welcome given his latest air melodrama, "The Cloud Rider," in which he is appearing for two days at the Castle Theatre.

Wilson takes his life in his hands as nonchalantly as a society youth takes his best girl.

In "The Cloud Rider" for example Wilson risks his life at least a dozen times in hair-raising scenes of dare-devil flying. Perhaps the most thrilling of them all is the scene in which he flies high in the air with his pilot, climbs to the top of his wings and then adjusts a landing wheel to the helpless plane of the heroine just above him. And this is all done at a height of about 2000 feet above the sea. Wilson also dives into a tree, wrecking his plane and leaps into the lashing waters of the Pacific from his own plane to swim to the plane of the villain and engage him in a hand-to-hand fight on the wings of a sinking air ship.

Indiana Towns Are Leveled By Devastating Cyclone

The storm played strange pranks. Here is a house turned on its side and lodged between two trees on the Main street of Griffin. The glass windows were not broken.

Here is a view of the east side of Griffin, Ind., following the storm. Houses for blocks were splintered by the wind, trees torn out by their roots and business houses leveled.

A little mantel clock (shown by arrow) in the home of George Doll, at Griffin, Ind., points its hands to the exact time the tornado struck—seven minutes to four. Mrs. Doll escaped with a broken arm.

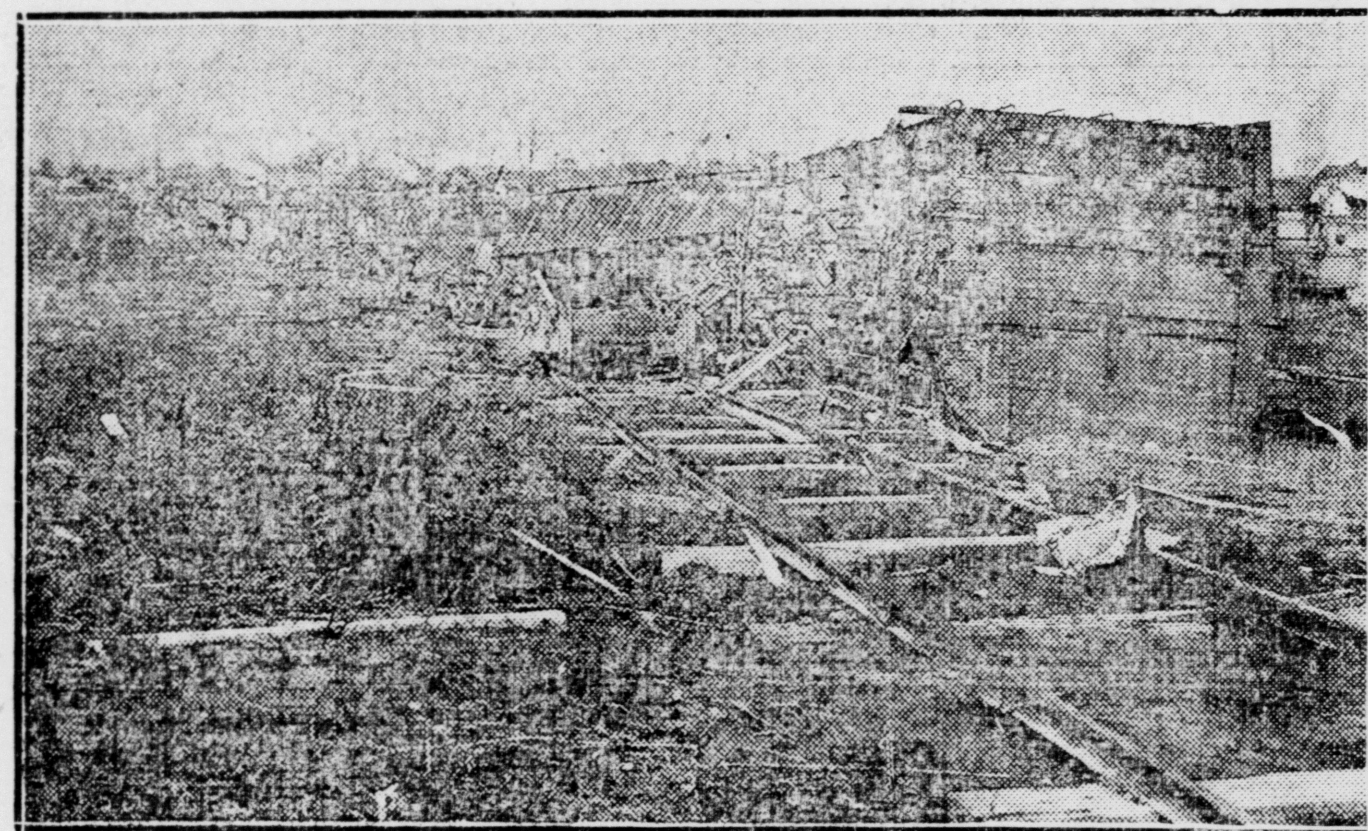

A little dog was the only survivor of a family at Griffin, Ind. The dog was sitting in the ruins when found by rescue squads.

A view of the residential district of Princeton, Ind., where houses were ripped from their foundations and shattered.

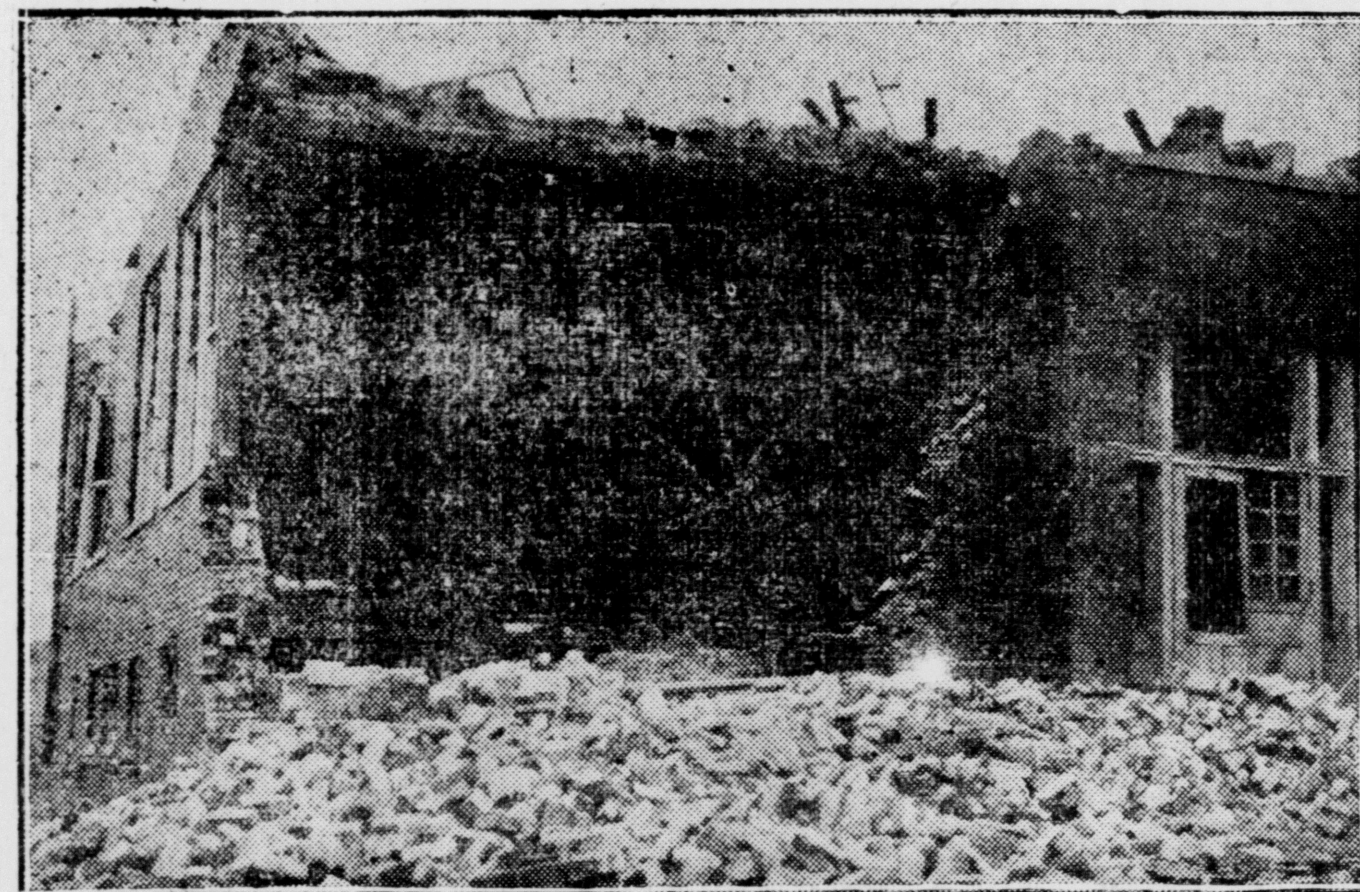

This is the first picture to come from Annapolis, Missouri, where the tornado of March 18 marshaled its wind of death and havoc and sent them roaring through five states, whose death toll from the disaster totals approximately 1000.

Freight and coal cars were lifted from the tracks and overturned at Princeton, Ind.

Pupils had just left this school at Griffin, Ind., when the storm tore out a wall of the room, leaving the room intact.

Griffin, Ind., March 23—Flood wa-

railroad, today, and which threatened
believed to have reached their crest
at noon.

St. Louis, Mo., March 23—Reconstruction machinery swung into action over the six states swept by wind storm today, and the swash of the hammer could be heard from the
debris filled towns.

The death list for the entire territory, according to today's figures, is
hospitals.

In southern Illinois the first houses
were going up to replace those splintered into splinters last week.

Today hundreds of workmen were on duty in Marysville and West Frankfort, starting construction of houses. Shipments of lumber, today, and other reconstruction necessities
poured into the territory, beginning
to arrive before dawn.

BORN AND REARED IN POSEY

Mrs. Elizabeth Adams Nelson, widow of the late William H. Nelson, a well known resident of Arlington, died Sunday morning at 5:20 o'clock, death resulting from an illness of three weeks with general debility, due to advanced age.

The deceased was 81 years of age and had lived in Posey township her entire life, where she was well known. She began to decline rapidly in health during the past three weeks.

She was a member of the Christian church at Arlington. Her hus-

Fund for Relief of Tornado Sufferers' Mounts to Nearly $1,000 After Red Cross Appeal

Ripley Township Residents Contri-
Church Sends $120

The Rush county fund for the re-
to $1,000 today, following the appel made Saturday by the Rush

The total had mounted to $738
this afternoon and reports of other contributions that were to be made indicated that the total gift from Rush county, to help those suffering
not higher.

The residents of Ripley township
were the largest contributors, Senator R. H. Hill of Carthage reporting
this morning that the sum of $300
would be started on its way to the relief committee this evening.

fund Saturday with an appropriation of $200 and $120.00 was raised by the congregation of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church Sunday.
This was sent today as a church
county Red Cross.

The Raleigh Christian church Sunday raised $15 and reports are expected from other churches in the county.

started with an appropriation of $25.00 from the Red Cross funds
and Senator Hill went to the Audi-
increased to $233, and the promoters expected to make it even $300 before the check was sent.

Daily Republican, with the exception of the Ripley township and the St. Paul's M. E. church, were received by the Daily Republican or Miss Nora Sleeth, treasurer of the local chapter of the Red Cross, and

Veterinarian, Opens Tuesday

A swine sanitation demonstration
arranged by a county swine com-
Dr. G. N. Wickwire, federal veterinarian, will begin Tuesday morning and continue for three days. The
cover most of the county, was prepared by B. D. Farthing, county superintendent of schools.

Supt. Farthing has asked each school to provide two or three un-thrifty pigs weighing between 30 and 60 pounds, and by post mortem examination Dr. Wickwire will be able
parasites which lessen the profits in pork production.

The meetings will be similar to those held in the county last August
by Dr. Wickwire, who won the admiration of Rush county farmers.
He is a man of 62 years and has been in with the federal government work 25 years. All of his suggestions and recommendations are of
a practical and conservative nature.
Dr. Wickwire is in charge of hog

Front, at Meeting

The question of remodeling the
front of the Elks lodge home, by adding a large veranda and building
a new entrance to the building, will be taken up at the regular meeting
of the lodge Wednesday evening,
and a large attendance of the members is urged.

The question of improving the
front of the building, since the addition of the dance room and la-quers a few years ago, has been pressing for settlement for some
definite decision will be reached at Wednesday night's meeting.

The question of interior decoration
are on display at the lodge building.

R. J. Duke Stops Off Few Hours

R. J. Duke, who is associated with the state Young Men's Christian association, stopped off in Rushville
this morning in the interest of the Hi-Y club work in the local schools,
and will return within a week or two to initiate the Rushville boys in Camp Bedford, to be held this summer near Bedford, Ind.

The Rushville school has an active Hi-Y club and is one of the 90
clubs in the state, having a membership of 2,600 high school boys.
The principals of the club are based on the four "C's"—clean speech,
clean sports, clean scholarship and
clean living. The Hi-Y is the Y.
school.

The camp was held last year at
of young people took advantage of
the opportunity it afforded. It is expected that the camp this year will
be even more largely attended, and
for that reason, Mr. Duke will be

House on Farm Owned by Mrs. Man-

A dwelling house on the farm owned by Mrs. Manzy Bebout, located two miles west of Rushville on the Indianapolis road, was destroyed by
and practically all of the household goods belonging to Grant Lacey, the
occupant, were destroyed.

ed from sparks, or a defective flue,
and the roof was ablaze all over
when it was discovered.

Mrs. Lacey and daughter were
home at the time and spread the
ing back from the main road, the
lane leading back was muddy and
practically impassable for machines.
Pumper truck 2 from the local fire station answered the call, but they
of the soft condition of the lane, and
saved.

The house was insured by Mrs.
$800. Mr. Lacey suffered heavily, as only a small amount of the furnishings were removed, and his insurance was for only $200.

That portion of the farm was formerly owned by the late Judge Cullen, with the dwelling facing the Indianapolis road.

NURSE SUFFERS SUDDENLY

Mrs. Angie McCulloch, Age 70, Dies
at Son's Home, This Morning

Mrs. Angie McCulloch, age 70, years, died suddenly this morning at
John McCulloch in Henderson, death
being caused from heart trouble. Dr.
J. M. Lee, coroner was called and
investigated the death.

Mrs. McCulloch was a nurse, and had been acting in that capacity at Glenwood, and was preparing to go to Milroy this week. She is survived by the son here and two daughters
in Tennessee, her former home. The
body will be shipped to Marysville, Tenn., for services and burial Tuesday afternoon. It is the second
death in the family recently, as Robert McCulloch, grandson, died re-
Gings.

Miss Naomi Nash of Gings Sits in Junior General Assembly

The Indiana Junior Assembly,
composed of high school students
from all over Indiana, convened this morning in the state house at Indianapolis, where they will be in
session for a week, making "laws"
and following the general procedure
of the state legislators.

Rush county is represented by Miss Naomi Nash, a Junior in the Gings high school who was elected at the county convention held here a few weeks ago. Every county is represented by either senators or representatives, and the high school pupils will introduce "bills" and follow out a legislative program that
was to be worked out today by the student committees.

DISTRICT MEETING WILL BE HELD HERE

Gather in Rushville For Session
on April First

STATE OFFICERS ARE COMING

Series of Prizes to be Offered for
Miles S. Cox Chairman

A series of twelve district meetings of the Great Council of Indiana, Improved Order of Red Men, will begin Tuesday, and Rushville has been selected for one of the district sessions, to be held here Wednesday, April 1.

William A. Morris, great sachem, and other state officers, will be present for the district meeting and will take an active part in the afternoon
and evening program.

Miles S. Cox is the chairman, in charge of the local meeting, and
tribes from the following counties
have been assigned to the Rushville
district: Rush, Shelby, Hancock, Henry, Wayne, Fayette, and Union.

The chair of the district will
kindle the council fire of the tribe at
three o'clock the afternoon of the day the meeting is held, and following the opening ceremony, the state
officers will take charge and call the
roll of the tribes in the district.
Matters pertaining to the advancement of the order will be discussed,
following which the great council
degree will be conferred on all past
of the Great Council of Indiana by
the great chiefs. All past sachems
who have not had this degree are asked to be present.

Promptly at 7:30 in the evening,
the unwritten work will be exemplified by Great Senior Sagamore William H. LaRue or his duly authorized representative, and at 8:30 the
the Gwynneville degree team.

state prize last year and is regarded as the best in Indiana. Those ar-
believe themselves very fortunate in being able to get the services of this

the degree team giving the best
adoption degree at the twelve
district meetings and a prize of $10
in gold will be given the individual member of the competing teams who renders his part best. The state officers will be the judges. A flag and staff suitable for the wiviam will be given to the tribe having the largest
per cent of its members present at
the afternoon meetings, in any of the
of the same one will be presented to
the largest class adopted from any one tribe at the district meetings.
Also a flag will be given for the visiting tribe having the largest attend-

AN JAIL TRIES TO SETTLE

An attempt to settle bad checks totaling $21.50 is being made by Ralph Gurley, who is held in jail on a warrant fled in Postice Stech's court, and he has not been arranged,
pending the outcome of making a settlement. The checks were drawn on a bank in Milroy and cashed by business men of Milroy and Greensburg. He was formerly employed at Milroy, and was arrested in Ripley county and returned to jail here to face the charges.

The Rev. Eddie Thomas Will Continue Evangelistic Campaign at St. Paul's Church Tuesday

PREACHES TWICE SUNDAY

The Rev. Gibson Wilson Continues
College Man Speaks Here

The Rev. Eddie Thomas, who is holding evangelistic services at St.
Paul's Methodist Episcopal church,
preached to two large audiences Sunday. No services will be held tonight, but they will be resumed Tuesday night.

his Easter sermon series at the First Presbyterian church Sunday morn-
of the Resurrection."

The Rev. R. W. Sage preached another of the series on "Why I Believe" at the First Baptist church,
and the Rev. E. G. McKibben used for his text at the First United
ing, "The Great Things of God."

Ed Kerschner, dean of religion
at Butler college, delivered two sermons at the Main Street Christian church Sunday, his theme in the morning being the unlearned lessons of life, in which he emphasized the importance of small things.

St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal

text, "The Holy Ghost," at the morning services and read from Acts, first and second chapters.

"If God prepared a place for the
good, he likewise prepared a place for the bad," the Rev. Mr. Thomas said.

The evangelist spoke of three dispensations, first of God, second of Jesus and third of the Holy Ghost,
and said we are living in the dispensation of the Holy Ghost when Jesus is not here in earthly form
but as a spirit.

"Jesus as a man could be in one place, only, at a time; as a spirit
he is everywhere," the speaker stated. "I have a right to pin my faith
on God. He will fulfill his promises." He spoke of Christ's last days,
how the disciples slept in the Garden and said the churches are a sleep now. "Believe and receive the spirit. There is a difference between believing and receiving. No I am with

His closing words were "God never took a man out of the world without giving him an opportunity to repent."

His text at the evening service
was from Matthew 27:4, "What is that to us, see thou to that," and

 his theme was "Christian citizenship." In part he said:
 "I take my text out of the mouth of a bunch of rich Pharisees, spoken to a man who had served their purpose. The downfall of Judas came as much through his avariciousness as anything else. He was the appointed treasurer, and I believe he was efficient, perhaps a good financier. There are many men, the best of financiers, who are surely on their way to hell as though they were on a limited train with no stopover allowed. Judas in his quest for money, like many men today, never stopped to inquire the cost or consider the disadvantage to others.

"We know his sin, how he bargained with a lot of rascals for your Christ and mine. Then being ashamed of his actions, but not man enough to apologize to the man he had wronged, he tried to make reparation, by giving back the blood money. There are some things money won't buy. Love, Heaven, forgiveness cannot be bought. If Judas had asked Jesus for forgiveness, our Christ's great heart would have gone out and there would have been a man, a great apostle instead of a suicide, for Jesus would have forgiven him.

"You can't reform the world entirely by making a better environment, you must reform the world individually before any great reformation is going to come about collectively. No man lives unto himself. He cannot though he tries.

"The prisons today are not reforming men, they are simply restraining them. We place beginners in crime with hardened criminals. It is true, we are trying to separate them. Nothing makes a man truly a humanitarian but the love of Jesus Christ."

First United Presbyterian

The text for the sermon by the pastor at the First United Presbyterian church on Sabbath morning was Hosea 8:12 "I wrote unto them the great things of my law; but they are counted as a strange thing" He said in part:

mighty at the way the people of Israel treated his word. They were law. The Bible of Hosea's time priest to the rank and file of the people and his messages by the prophets were so different from their practices that they seemed to them to be strange. In the American Standard version it is translated: "Then ten thousand things of my law." The Bible of Hosea's time consisted of the pentateuch, the historical books, the poetical books and the major prophets. They lacked the twelve minor prophets and all the New Testament of having what we have. Let them be without excuse. Instead of repenting and seeking forgiveness they felt that God's word was irrational, impractical and visionary.

They treated it as men of the world treat it today. They wholly reject it; or they accept it only in part, as history, literature or ethics; or they seek to undermine and destroy what condemns their life. The law of the Sabbath is annulled today. Men say, "It is the only day I have to entertain my friends, or be entertained, or to take an excursion, or to go for an outing." As a matter of fact it is the only day you don't have for those purposes. It is the Lord's day and is to be used as He directs. The six days are ours to be used as we please, only in a lawful way. The seven is to be used as He pleases. This is only one illustration of the same tendency to annul the divine command as existed in Hosea's day. Leaving the negative phase, let us note how we ought to treat the scripture. We should receive it as God's word addressed to us personally. No matter how many hear, it is not for men in the mass, but for the individual. And no matter who or what the messenger is, when we hear the truth, the responsibility comes ours to acceptance or rejection. We should search it as for hid treasure. Go over it. Go into it. Go through it. It will reward your search. We should meditate on it.

"The comfort of the resurrection can be known only as we come to know the transforming power of Jesus Christ in our own life," said the Rev. Gibson Wilson in a sermon on "The Comfort of the Resurrection" at the First Presbyterian church Sunday. His text was Phil. 3:10, "That I may know him and the power of the resurrection."

He pointed out that all of the progress of the centuries had been marked by victories, none of which equaled the victory of Easter morn. "From that day men and women," he added, "have rejoiced with new courage to know that believers are triumphant on the eternal shores. In his great power and victory the ages continue to find their comfort. Men and women turned by sorrow and disappointment, rise with a courage that has astonished the world, and guided by the Holy Spirit of God, they have proclaimed with new courage their faith in the life that is eternal. Millions, imbued and inspired by that faith have joined the Church Triumphant. Other millions inspired by his resurrection are hastening to every nook and corner of the world with this message of life beyond the grave. Of that untold multitude who are yet to be born anew through the knowledge of his resurrection, no man can tell the number. All these shall proclaim him Lord of Lords, in the ages untold, world without end.

"The great outstanding theme of the preachers in this early church was, 'The Resurrection; just as the great theme of the Reformation was, Justification by Faith. Out of these great themes has come the preaching that has transformed the world and continues to fashion its course through the centuries. Would not the church profit tremendously today if she would get away from this discussion about forms and ceremonies and badges of recognition and preach the great fundamental truths of salvation through the risen Christ. The people are hungering for bread, why feed them anything else?"

"That is the spiritual interpretation of the resurrection? Paul says,

"That I may know him and the power of his resurrection? Paul had the power of the resurrection in his own life before he died. We must be risen men while we live if we are to be risen men after death. We must have the Christ life in us now if we would have it beyond the tomb."

"The lighted taper which you need to guide you through the tomb is the light of the life of Jesus living in you. If that light isn't in you now it will be a dark journey."

"We need to be more concerned about the spiritual truth of Christianity being in our life on this side the tomb rather than on the other side. If we are living in sin and in the neglect of God's great truths, we may be certain that the life we now have is darkness."

"Rear your children in the spiritual meaning of the resurrection. Let its teaching fashion their life. Then you need have no fear when the door opens and they enter the City, with the life eternal dwelling in them."

was considering the use of part of the appropriated $25,000 balance in his emergency contingent fund for reconstructing the school building at Griffin, the hamlet which was swept away by the tornado.

Contributions to the relief fund for tornado sufferers in southwestern Indiana, continued to pour into the Red Cross headquarters here today. Total contributions received shortly before noon amounted to more than $20,000.

Evansville, Ind., March 23—The village of Griffin, swept by tornado and fire last Wednesday with the loss of at least 50 lives, was almost completely isolated from the outside world today by flood waters of the Wabash river and smaller streams.

Entrance to the town was cut off from three directions and a highway leading to the village from the fourth direction is covered with water but not yet impassable.

Supplies for the few refugees of the town's original population of 400 still remaining on the spot, were being collected at Barrett Station, two miles east of Griffin.

From there they are taken to the isolated village on a gasoline hand car on the Illinois Central railroad. All persons except relief workers were forbidden by military authorities to enter the town.

Governor Jackson, who made a personal inspection of the entire district yesterday, drove out of Griffin over a highway that was covered with one foot of water.

The list of known dead in southwestern Indiana stood at 109 today and a systematic search of the ruins of Griffin was still in progress, in the belief that additional bodies will be found there.

Conditions were rapidly improving in the other towns in the "pocket" of southern Indiana which were struck by the tornado.

Princeton, Owensville and Poseyville have buried most of their dead.

has come around again. It has become the custom for city officials to proclaim a "clean-up week" and thus set an example for all of the people to follow.This custom has its good points because it serves to focus attention on the necessity of individual pride in the appearance of residences and premises before the whole community can really accomplish anything on a wholesale scale.But is a "clean-up week" enough?
Would not a real campaign be more fruitful in desired results?Why not make it a campaign this year and keep it up as long as may be necessary to do a real job? That's the first essential of a successful community effort in such work.The second essential is the public commitment of the thing cleaned up to the new order of things. A "lick and a promise" all in a week will not keep Rushville or any other community clean and wholesome-looking the year around.It is impossible for public officials to co-ordinate their efforts with those of every householder within a six-day period. But public co-operation that can be enlisted in a real campaign is invaluable to them, and to the community, in the visible and lasting results obtained and in the sense of personal responsibility for continuous effort in this direction.The city government has a respon-

S.S.S. will help Nature build these Rushville a few days ago because a man was carrying a revolver.As long as men who are not peace officers sworn to enforce the law, are permitted to carry concealed weapons, such tragedies are certain to take place.There is a law which provides that no one shall carry concealed weapons.How long will public sentiment allow this law to be willfully disobeyed?It can be enforced, just as any other law is enforced, if the people so will it.When are they going to demand that this practice be stopped?Will they wait until more lives are taken, or will they put their stamp of disapproval on it at once?Wooling Out InefficiencyJardine, the new secretary of agriculture, is acting like a real heman, to use a trite but expressive phrase. It is hinted that he has already discovered that his primary problem in the department is to reorganize it into an effective going concern. It is regrettable but true that the department of agriculture, for all of the fine work which it has done, is honey-combed with inefficiency, useless and extravagant burcaus and subdivisions which are of no particular value. Mixing brains with the soil is now a recognized feature of farming life, but in various bureaus of the department, in the attempt to build up organizations, the proportion of brains to common farm soil has become as nine to one. The farmers of the country want facts, want advice, and are eager for instruction, but when it comes to the point where for the giving out of a five dollar fact a five thousand dollar bureau has to be organized, it is about time to call a halt. This may seem a wanton exaggeration, but it is not far from the facts. The spon-der the deadwood and underbrush is cleared away, the sooner the Department of Agriculture will function as it really should, to the benefit of the farmers. That we understand is the goal toward which Jardine is moving.The Hodge - Podge

NEA Service WriterWASHINGTON—Assessment of an arbitrary $10,000,000 or so in income tax against Senator Couzens, to cover a theoretical undervaluation of the 1913 worth of his stock in the Ford Motor Company, may result in a situation where the government, instead of collecting a few additional millions, would have to refund to Couzens the taxes he did pay as a result of his profit on that transaction.Perhaps Secretary Mellon would not object to that result. For it would, in that case, be a demonstration of his claim that high taxes defeat themselves and deprive the government of revenue instead of adding to treasury receipts.No more interesting demonstration of the Mellon tax theory could possibly be staged in this country, nor one that would so thoroughly catch public attention and interest.BRIEFLY the situation is this: When negotiations were under way by Ford to buy out the stock of the minority interests in the flivver industry, the minority stockholders agreed to sell at $12.
500 per share, provided a ruling was procured in advance from the Treasury Department of a value for the stock, as of 1913, satisfactory to the minority owners.Under the revenue law, the 1913 value would be taken as a basis for determining profit on the stock subject to the federal income tax.Such a ruling was obtained by Ford from the treasury. The 1913 value was fixed at $3000 per share.
And as a result of this valuation the sale was consummated.Ford paid $2,500 per share for the stock and Couzens and his minority associates paid Uncle Sam income tax on $3000 per share profit, this being the increase in value of the stock between 1913and 1913 as figured by the government's own experts.IN rebuttal to the department's claim that the figure of $3000 was more than the stock was worth in 1913, that its real value then was only about $2500 a share, and that a tax must be paid on $10,000 per share profit instead of $3000 per share, the following claim, legal sharks suggest, might be established.Pre-determination by the government of a satisfactory value for the stock, as of 1913, was one of the material considerations entering into the sale.It was a very definite, perhaps even a determining factor, in the sale. Had the government then fixed the figure Secretary Mellon now suggests would have been proper, Couzens' net return would have been some $10,000,000 less. It seems quite likely the sale never would have been made at that figure.If the government is now able to establish and enforce a lower 1913 valuation as a basis for taxing the profits on the sale to Ford, it is claimed the validity of the whole transaction could be set aside and Couzens reinstated in the ownership of his Ford stock should be so desired.For the valuation previously fixed by the department constituted a very definite and valuable consideration and formed a basic part of the agreement on which the sale was concluded.In event this contention was upheld in the courts, the government, instead of collecting additional taxes from Couzens would have to refund taxes heretofore collected on the sale.And Henry Ford would have to make an accounting to Couzens on profits made during the last half dozen years.Which would bring Ford into the fight and insure litigation lasting years beyond the span of the present administration.FIFTEEN YEARS

How often do we hear that expression, "ex-to normal is seldom very serious in itself, but is characterized very often by a breakdown of tissue and cell, which shows up later as deafness, stomach or heart trouble, or some one of a hundred possible complications. IF—The treatment used to combat the "flu" is of a type that is aimed to alleviate the effect

FRANKFORT IS KING

A new champion was crowned king of Indiana basketball Saturday night—Frankfort. This team has been a frequent visitor at the big show in Indianapolis, and last year when they were the runners up, they said then that this year they would be on top. Congratulations, Frankfort, and since it wasn't Rushville, we don't know of any other team that deserves to win anymore than you do.

ON ALL-STATE TEAMS

Rushville players, although they participated in only one game of the state tourney, figured in the honorary teams in the Star this morning. Miller, backguard, won his berth on the second team; Lakin, center, won a place on the third team, and Newbold, forward, was given honorable mention.

NEXT YEAR, WHEN RUSHVILLE GOES TO THE STATE, WE ARE HOPING THAT WE DON'T HAVE TO MEET MARION. THAT TEAM HAS BEEN A JINX, AS BOTH TIMES AT THE STATE THEY SENT RUSHVILLE BACK, THE FIRST TIME BY ONE POINT, AND THEN BY TWO POINTS.

Kokomo was the real dark horse of the tourney. It will be recalled that Kokomo lost Beatty, floor guard after they had made a wonderful record for the season, only to have most of their games forfeited. If Kokomo had still retained Beatty, the final score no doubt would have been different.

Alice's Sick Bunch

The sickest bunch in the state, no doubt is from Vincennes. They had a fine team down there, but this present staff in the News won't win all games. Vincennes no doubt felt overconfident in that Kokomo game, but Kokomo went in and outplayed them. There is always a chance for a team to get too much publicity—that is always the reason why the crowd is for the dark horse.

Another sick bunch is the crowd from Washington, a neighboring city of Vincennes. They also were just as confident of winning the state, as Shootin' 'em was that Vincennes would win. The Hatchets have one of the best shooting teams in the state but they were not experienced enough with strong teams to fight their way through the tourney.

This Washington team retains all of their players next year, excepting the back guard, and they are stepping out in fast company in the state, which will help them put across a winner. Washington was among the first teams booked by Rushville next season, with two games with them.

BOOSTERS' CLUB IS BEING URGED!

Hittin' 'em has received a letter from Ding Bat in which he is strong for a Booster's Club for Rushville and urges an organization of that kind at once, in order to keep alive the spirit all summer, and also to boost the new gym. He says in part: "The club could boost the new gym and keep the spirit of the game up during the building of the gym. Organize a club like Shelbyville has, elect officers from the best and most enthusiastic fans in the city and then build up an organization." He mentions several prominent fans who would be interested in the movement, and he also urges a girl yell leader to help things along. In conclusion, he adds, "think it over fans, then talk it over and before you know it, we will have a club of three or four hundred. Boost for the gym. Boost for a club. Ding Bat."

AND NOW WE ARE NEARING THE END OF THIS COLUMN BUSINESS UNTIL THE FIRST DAY OF DECEMBER, WHEN THE SEASON WILL AGAIN BE IN FULL SWING.

In reviewing the past season, it has been a most successful one. The team has been one of the best in the history of the school. We are losing some of the finest basketball players ever turned out here. For instance, Newbold, Miller, McNamara, all who graduate, and Lakin who probably will not be able to play next season. Then there are Osborn and Wainwright, also first string players, who graduate. This is sure a fine bunch of players, and should be sent on their way with the best of wishes from all fans.

And again in reviewing the season, we have had a fine time together. Much has been done in the way of encouraging a new gym which is greatly needed, and now that the season is over, this sentiment must not be dropped. The time for action is now, and it should be carried on, so that when the first game is played

HOWARD RICHARDSON DIES

Rushville Man Expires This Morning Following Long Illness

Howard Richardson, age 49 years, died this morning at five o'clock at his home, 128 South Pearl street, death being caused from a long illness, with stomach trouble. He is survived by the widow and two children, Roy and Fred Richardson, and a grandchild. He also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Addie Dickey of Newcastle and Mrs. Albert Curry of this city, and a brother, Robert Richardson of Greensburg.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the late residence, and burial will be made in Greenstar, which was the former home of the deceased.

BROADCASTING BOOTH LIKE BIG BIRD CAGE

Indianapolis, Ind., March 23—High above the bleachers and the playing floor, nestling in the steel girders of the big Exposition building at the state fair grounds, where the final battle of the state high school basketball championship race of Indiana is being fought today is something which resembles a huge bird cage.

From here the thousands of basketball fans of Indiana who are unable to come to Indianapolis for the tournament get all the thrills and realism of the proud possessors of front row seats.

From this booth the Indianapolis Times is broadcasting every move of the ball in every game from the first clash at 9 o'clock this morning to the final championship struggle tonight.

Blythe Q. Hendricks of the Times staff, is doing the announcing. Hendricks has followed all the major sporting events in Indianapolis for a dozen games and is thoroughly familiar with the game of basketball.

Through the microphone listeners can hear Hendricks announce the plays and listen to the yells of the cheering section.

This is the first time that returns of a state tournament have ever been broadcasted from the floor.

Next November, it will be in a fine new and large gymnasium. Keep alive this thought, and don't let it die down. Talk it all the time.

THREE FINAL CHEERS!

So we are now ready to close up. Just one thing more, let's give three rousing cheers to the Lions before we go. They have deserved it, and many more things. They fought hard for that new gym, and it was largely due to their playing that worked up the enthusiasm to that point.

Just like they do in moving pictures, when they come to an end, the scene just fades out, and so that is what this column is doing—a moving picture stunt of just fading away.

Dempsey Has Best of Clash

By HENRY L. FARRELL

New York, March 23—After sad experiences in the past, the New York Boxing Commission exhibits a great capacity for punishment in putting the spurs to Jack Dempsey. Under the conditions that existed in this case, the commission hardly had a chance to win the argument.

When the commission gave Dempsey 24 hours in which to accept or reject the challenge of Harry Wills, it jumped off without taking the well known look. It developed later that the commissioners had forgotten a clause in the rules that gives a champion fifteen days in which to answer a challenge.

The commission also was without an effective comeback. If Dempsey had ignored the ultimatum that was presented to him and had inquired of the commission what would be done about it, the commission would have been forced to admit that nothing would be done about it, because nothing could be done about it.

There was no way to punish Dempsey for the violation of the rule which requires that champions must defend their titles each six months while they retain their championship. The penalty for the violation of the rules is suspension. In the case of Mickey Walker and one or two others, the commission tried to remove the title, but it didn't take. There seems to be an unfortunate state of mind in the public that there is only one way in which a title can be taken away from a champion and that is by a vigorous tap on the chin.

It would be silly to attempt to vacate the heavyweight championship by an edict of the commission and it is quite certain that the commission would not invite ridicule upon itself by such an attempt. In the case of Dempsey, the commission cannot even suspend him, because he has not renewed his license since the Firpo fight, and the commission has no jurisdiction over him. The only punishment that could be meted out would be a threat that he could get a license when he wanted one.

"North of 36", by Emerson Hough is a tale of the Texas cattle trail, picturing a country wild, almost lawless, at the period of the story, roughened and disheartened by the recent Civil War.

Word comes that way up "north of 36, a market beckons. With her 4,500 cows, 16 cow hands, 19 kinds of rifles and six shooters and 115 cow ponies, Taisie makes the start with all the thrills that the start of the wagon train in Emerson Hough's "The Covered Wagon" evolved.

That Al Wilson, the famous aviator stunt king, is becoming steadily a popular favorite on the screen has been demonstrated in no uncertain fashion by the enthusiastic welcome given his latest air melodrama, "The Cloud Rider", in which he is appearing for two days at the Castle Theatre.

Wilson takes his life in his hands as nonchalantly as a society youth takes his best girl.

In "The Cloud Rider" for example Wilson risks his life at least a dozen times in hair-raising scenes of dare-devil flying. Perhaps the most thrilling of them all is the scene in which he flies high in the air with his pilot, climbs to the top of his wings and then adjusts a landing wheel to the helpless plane of the heroine just above him. And this is all done at a height of about 2000 feet above the sea. Wilson also dives into a tree, wrecking his plane and leaps into the lashing waters of the Pacific from his own plane to swim to the plane of the villain and engage him in a hand-to-hand fight on the wings of a sinking air ship.

Indiana Towns Are Leveled By Devastating Cyclone.

This is the first picture to come from Annapolis, Missouri, where the tornado of March 18 marshaled its wind of death and havoc and sent them roaring through five states, whose death toll from the disaster totals approximately 1000.

Freight and coal cars were lifted from the tracks and overturned at Princeton, Ind.
